FOREWORD

The BC Labour Directory is an annual publication of the Policy and Legislation Branch of the Ministry of Labour and Consumer Services which compiles information with respect to membership and officials of collective bargaining organizations in the province. The reference date for statistical information is January 1, 1989.

Information for this publication is obtained primarily from Statistics Canada's C.A.L.U.R.A. (Corporations and Labour Unions Returns Act) Survey and is supplemented by information received directly from labour organizations in British Columbia. Every effort is made to obtain accurate and up-to-date information. The reliability of the information depends mainly on the accuracy of the respondents.

Particular attention is drawn to the union index at the end of the publication. Since some unions have locals with distinct and different names, and some unions are known by short names or initialisms, this index is included to serve as a finding guide to the union listing including full and short forms, initialisms and local names.

We wish to thank all those who cooperated during the gathering of the information that went into the preparation of the BC Labour Directory. In the event that errors or omissions are discovered, it would be appreciated if they were brought to our attention (call 387-1762 in Victoria). The publication was produced by staff members Sharon Churchill, Jennifer York and Patrick Stanton.

UNION MEMBERSHIP SUMMARY — 1989

As of January 1, 1989 trade union memberships in British Columbia had reached 477,633 members. This total represented a 4.4% increase from 1988 figures and reversed a downward decline in numbers of union members which had been the experience for most of the past half-decade. Despite the growth of membership over the past year the proportion of the paid work force who were members of trade unions declined slightly to an estimated 37.5%, due in large part to the rapid expansion of the provincial paid work force.

Several new labour organizations have been added to the Directory this year. They include:

Del Employees' Association.

Geddes Employees' Association.

General Workers' Union of Canada.

Independent Employees' Association.

L. B. Employees' Association.

Transportation Employees' Canadian Union.

In addition one major structural change took place during 1988-89 with the transfer of members from the Letter Carriers to the Canadian Union of Postal Workers after a representation vote conducted by the Canada Labour Relations Board. As a result of this shift, CUPW membership in 1989 increased to 5,311 from its 1988 total of 2,804.

A total of 25 trade unions in the province had a membership in excess of 5,000 in 1989 — these are listed in the accompanying Table 2. Most of the larger unions did experience membership growth over the past 12 months. Aside from the expansion of CUPW membership in British Columbia which was previously mentioned, the B.C. Teachers' Federation, the Hospital Employees' Union and the Food and Commercial Workers' Union all recorded membership increases over the previous year of close to 5,000 members. Among other unions, the United Steelworkers of America registered a 10% climb in membership last year while the membership of IWA — Canada and the Carpenters' Union rose by 4% and 6%, respectively.

The largest union in the province, the B.C.G.E.U., retained that position in 1989, although it did see total membership decline by 1,422 to 42,543. Other major unions which experienced a drop in membership during the last year included the Machinists (down by 1,441 members), the Health Sciences Association (down 173), C.A.I.M.A.W. (drop of 136), and the Teamsters (down 142 members).

Table 3 provides a breakdown of union membership by sex and lists those unions with the largest numbers of female members. Overall, the number of women belonging to unions rose to 178,274 in 1989, an increase of 9% from 1988 totals. Women now represent 37.3% of all unionized workers in the province. The unions representing the largest numbers of female members were the H.E.U. and the B.C. Teachers' Federation, in first and second spot, respectively. The B.C.G.E.U. and B.C. Nurses' Union which had held the top two spots in 1988 fell to third and fourth, respectively.

In Table 4 a breakdown of union membership information by industrial sector is provided. Overall, the numerical and percentage distribution of membership by industry shows only marginal shifts from 1988. Most industries have seen an increase in union membership. This was led by the Community Services sector where membership went up by 9% to total 122,787; 25.7% of all union members in the province. Trade and Construction also appeared to be growth areas for union membership with increases of 6,408 and 3,166, respectively, while most other sectors saw relatively little change from the previous year.

Union Headquarters and Locals

UNION HEADQUARTERS AND LOCALS

This section contains membership and officer information for both headquarters and locals of unions in British Columbia. Entries are arranged in alphabetical order according to the short name of the labour organizations although no official recognition of such abbreviated titles is intended. In those instances where a union's short name is derived from the initials of its full name, alphabetical listing is usually based on the first word in the full name. (For example CUPE comes under "Canadian Union" rather than under "CU").

Beneath the short and full title listing of each union is its affiliation, if any, to international and/or national congresses or federations. Abbreviations used are:

AFL-CIO	— American Federation of Labor — Congress of Industrial Organizations
CLC	— Canadian Labour Congress
CFL	— Canadian Federation of Labour
BC FED	— British Columbia Federation of Labour
CCU	— Confederation of Canadian Unions
AFL-CIO/CLC	— affiliated with both bodies
